HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY STATEMENT

Our Commitment

Newspace recognises its duties under the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and other relevant legislation, and is committed to ensuring the Health, Safety & Welfare of its employees and all others who may be affected by its undertakings.

Our Approach

The Company actively encourages engagement with its employees, to ensure that we can work together to create a positive health and safety culture, make a continuous improvement in our health and safety practices, and strive to promote a 'Zero Harm' working environment. This policy applies equally to all our work activities and those who may be affected by them.

We will as far as reasonably practicable:

- Provide and maintain a safe working environment, safe plant, and safe work equipment
- Ensure materials and substances used are safely stored, handled, transported, and used
- Consult with its employees on matters affecting their health and safety
- Undertake assessments of the health and safety risks arising from its work activities and implement adequate controls
- Provide adequate training, instruction, information, and supervision to ensure that its employees are competent to safely undertake their duties
- Implement measures to help prevent accidents and cases of work-related ill health
- Provide occupational health surveillance to ensure that its employees are not adversely affected by their work activities
- Regularly review its procedures and documents to ensure their effectiveness
